Do you ship merchandise? Do you sell online? We can help!

Being a small business owner is hectic. As small business owners ourselves, we know! That is why we have designed a set of services to help you handle many of your routine business tasks. That way, you can concentrate on the really important task – growing your business! Here is what we can do for you:

Manage Your Inventory (Receive, Store)

We can receive and store your inventory for you. Here is how it works: Rent a unit and authorize us to receive shipments for you. Then provide our address with your unit number as the shipping address for your vendors. When we receive the goods, we will open the unit so your vendor can deliver the goods directly to your unit. Or we will hold the goods in our secure unit till you collect it and move it to your unit. We will also notify you via email or phone when your merchandise arrives. We have different size storage spaces to fit your inventory from small 5x5 storage lockers to large 10x40 units. We also have climate controlled units for fragile and temperature sensitive items.

Fulfill your orders (Pick, Pack, Ship)

We will take care of fulfilling your order! Once your customer places an order on you, simply give us the shipping address and the product and we will pack it securely using industry guidelines for the type of merchandise and ship it directly to the customer for you using the class of service you desire. If you have inventory well organized in your units, we can even pick the item for you, if authorized. We are also a FedEx authorized shipping center. This means that we get volume discounts for shipping with FedEx or FedEx Ground and we pass these discounts on directly to you. For most small businesses, it is cheaper to ship through us than going directly through FedEx or UPS.

Sell for you online! (Sell)

If you are not already selling online, we can help you expand your sales and profits. Online sales are an increasingly important sales channel for small businesses. However, managing the online sales channel is time consuming and daunting. If not done right, few people will visit your online store or bid on your auction. That is where we come in. We will do all the steps required to sell your items online including: photographing, presenting the item on Ebay, Yahoo and other online stores, collecting payment and packing and shipping the item. Once payment is received, we will forward it to you, less our fees and posting costs. Whether you are already selling online or just starting out, this is an easy way for you to increase your sales with NO incremental work or investment on your part.
